NEWS PAPER HISTORY
The Rockland Gazette was established in 1856. In 1874 the Courier was established and consolidated with the Gazette in 1882. The Free Press was established in 1885, and in 1891 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 17, 1897.

To forgive a fault in another is more sublime than to be faultless—one's self—George Sand.

A story and a half house, owned by Harley Burton of Seal Harbor was completely destroyed by fire late Tuesday night, and two other houses in the neighborhood escaped only through the vigilant efforts of a bucket brigade. A timely discovery of the fire was made by Mr. Burton's children, and most of the furniture was saved. Mr. Burton had $900 insurance.

A tremendous slash in price of furniture will be made as a Community Fair Week Special at Stonington Furniture Co. See our big ad. in Saturday's paper. We are selling high quality goods now at a price that is making us hosts of friends. Come in and see us. Stonington Furniture Co.—adv.

IN THE DAYS OF SHIPS

Old Thomaston Cap'n's Spin Interesting Yarns At A Meeting of the Community Brotherhood.

The Men's Community Brotherhood of the Congregational Church, in Thomaston, held its monthly meeting and banquet Tuesday night, the occasion being dedicated to "An Evening With Our Old Captains." Significant of the day in which we live—of the day when Thomaston ships proudly roamed the seas—was the fact that only four men sat at the table reserved for the guests of honor. Three of the four had been commanders of some of the finest craft that ever left a Maine port while the fourth gained his nautical experience from the environments of a second mate's cabin.

It was a sad dwindling from the days when almost every other man in Thomaston depended upon the sea for a livelihood, but it was a jolly reminiscent quartet which turned back the pages of time and regaled the audience with anecdotes in which a seafaring community delights. Mingled with the odor of fragrant cigars was the real zest of the sea. Pastor Kilborn reflected that it would take about a fortnight to get rid of the former, but the memory of those sea yarns will endure forever in the minds of all who were so fortunate as to hear them.

A supper of baked beans, cold meats and fixings (not forgetting those amazingly delicious rolls) was served by the Ladies Circle, under the chairmanship of Mrs. R. E. Dunn.

Clearing The Decks

Rev. Joseph W. Strout, whose first pastorate of the Congregational Church was from 1885 to 1893, acted as chairman of the meeting and found it a very pleasant task.

"This is an evening with our old shipmasters," he said. "We are beginning to realize that they are rapidly disappearing, and before they are entirely gone we would like to hear the old sea yarns once more. When I first came to Thomaston the river was lined with shipping and in all of the shipyards there were large vessels on the stocks. Today there is not a sail dotting the bay; indeed there are few large coasting vessels left. There may be one or two full rigged ships, but they are practically gone. With the disappearance of the old ships and the old sea captains there is fading from our memory one of the greatest romances—full of interest and intensity."

Before the speakers could begin delving into the realms of the past, Rev. H. S. Kilborn had a thought for the future, and his motion that the Brotherhood buy a ton of coal for the church was adopted. The fuel problem had been informally discussed at considerable length before the meeting, and everybody admitted that the real problem concerns next winter rather than the present one. Mr. Kilborn is rather committed to wood so far as his own (the Baptist) church is concerned.

The first man called upon by the toastmaster was Edward O'Brien, Burgess who wanted his hearers to know at the outset that he was not sailing under false colors as a shipmaster.

"The nearest I came to being a captain," said he, "was six months experience in a second mate's room."

Was Plain Homesick

Mr. Burgess gave an entertaining description of how mates' quarters were furnished, how they were obliged to dress one at a time; how they used a coffee can lamp, with a wick down the spout; how it was almost impossible to breathe when both the men and the lamp got to smoking.

Had a nice home in Thomaston," said Mr. Burgess, "and when I got aboard that ship I was homesick, awfully homesick. But I was pious and wanted to go to church, so when we got into Weehawken I went. I thought I should die, and never went to church again until we got to New Orleans four months later."

"This was too much for Mr. Kilborn's curiosity."

"What made you think you would die?" he asked.

"Oh, I was homesick!" declared Mr. Burgess, amid laughter.

"If you want to know whether a vessel can roll or not," he continued, "go aloft in a heavy sea and gale of wind. I tried it and it made me so sick that the first mate advised me to turn in. The second mate told me that if he had his way I would go up in the cross-trees and stay there. I told him I was glad he didn't have his way."

"Day after day we had a breeze of wind, we were reeling off the knots to beat the band. One day the mate pointed aloft and wanted to know if I had ever seen a reef in a to'gal-lant-sail before. I never had, and he told me I might go to sea all my life and never see one again."

Mr. Burgess described going out on the to'gal-lant yard, where, as he expressed it, you have to hang on with your eyebrows.

Capt. Watts' Thriller

Wreathed in smiles, for that has always been his nature, Capt. Franklin E. Watts took the stand, and told how he went out to New Orleans in the ship Loretta Fish and loaded cotton for Liverpool. Across the water he was recommended for second mate of the bark Asteria, and he told how the craft blew up when one of the men went below with a lantern and encountered coal gas. The boats were put overboard with a supply of bread and water, and the crew got ready to abandon the bark, which was then ablaze into the rigging. It was not until the boat he was in pulled away that Capt. Watts discovered he had been injured. Suddenly he realized that he was losing his eyesight. A topsail schooner came to the castaways' rescue.

When they were landed Capt. Watts was in a hospital at Penance six weeks and for 18 days was totally blind. The American consul finally sent him to Liverpool and he got passage back home in the schooner Two Brothers.

Capt. Walter Willey told of a voyage in the schooner Fannie Palmer, reciting the details as faithfully as though he were reading from the ship's log. The Palmer went to Newport News to load for Boston, but on arrival there found herself on the blacklist and sailed for Spain. The wind blew so hard that this voyage that Capt. Willey said he couldn't hear himself think, and heavy seas broke over her. This lasted four days. The schooner fell in with another vessel which paid no attention to her distress signals, but a British steamer finally took the crew off.

The Palmer's crew was taken into Gibraltar where the men stayed for two weeks before coming home on the English steamer Crete.

A Brief Voyage

McLellan Gilchrist, erstwhile mariner and perennial humorist, told of the shortest voyage on record—the shortest so far as he was concerned. Along with Martin Hyler he shipped on the schooner Mary W. Hooker which loaded ice at Rockport for Portsmouth, Va. But they never saw Portsmouth, Va., or any other place, because they early concluded that they had enough of seafaring, quit the schooner at Hill's Point and went to work on a farm. Mr. Gilchrist consequently did not get into the blue book as an "old captain." His story was drolly told, and provoked much mirth.

Comes now the speaker of the evening, Capt. William J. Tobey, with an armful of newspapers and manuscript, but who reminded his audience that he was going to keep an eye on his watch so as not to run over.

"We can't get along without The Courier-Gazette," began Capt. Tobey, and unfolding a recent copy of that paper he read a few extracts from the account of the Sunbeam's first voyage, as told by Susanne Alice Ranslett, daughter of the captain. This story Capt. Tobey had found of special interest, as it was interwoven into his own career.

A Schoolboy Conspiracy

But Capt. Tobey first went back to his student days at Thomaston Academy, when he went to school to A. K. P. Knowlton, or "Aky-paky," as the boys always called him—when he was not present.

Wednesday was declamation day, and once upon a time the boys conceived the idea that each, when called upon would recite "The Burial of Sir John Moore," so familiar to all schoolboys of that period. The first two speakers followed schedule, and the third began—

"Unchanged"

"Not a drum was heard."
He got that far and Aky-paky was wise to the game.

"Do you know any other piece?" he asked.

The boy didn't and was sent to his seat. And a similar disposition was made of Capt. Tobey's case. All of the boys had to stay after school—as many other generations of boys have done.

Capt. Tobey worked in a sail-loft from the time he was 14 until he was 18. Capt. Ranslett wanted him to go in his bark, but when Capt. Tobey found that the craft was to be in Thomaston all winter he shipped instead with Capt. Gilchrist in the ship Edward O'Brien, which stocked $20 a ton for carrying coal to San Francisco. It was at the China Islands, where the O'Brien loaded guano for Hamburg, Germany, that he again fell in with the Sunbeam.

The Edward O'Brien left New York Dec. 22, 1863, and arrived at Hamburg in June, 1865. The voyage was without mishap, but when the ship reached the equator and there was a dead calm, he got permission to go in swimming. Capt. Tobey was always a good swimmer but he broke all records getting back to the ship when the mate informed him that the water was infested with sharks.

Joins Father's Ship

In December, 1865, Capt. Tobey shipped with his father as third mate in the ship Paeolus and sailed for Melbourne. The ship loaded at China Islands direct back to New York. On the next voyage in January, 1867, the Paeolus carried coal to Calcutta and Capt. Tobey had become second mate. The Paeolus loaded guano at China Islands for Genoa, Italy. In this connection Capt. Tobey narrated the interesting fact that the guano on these islands, was 100 feet deep in some places.

On his next voyage to San Francisco, as mate of the Paeolus, in 1878, the craft dove into three heavy rollers and Capt. Tobey learned upon arrival at the California port that there had been a very heavy earthquake, and that a number of Market street buildings were flat.

He Felt His Oats

Capt. Tobey became commander of the Paeolus in 1871, and made a voyage from Philadelphia to Antwerp.

"I was young and felt my oats," said the speaker, "but when my father went over the side and left the ship I suddenly felt my responsibility and never felt so small in my life. The next five years were busy ones in the Paeolus, among the ports visited being Liverpool, San Francisco, Baltimore and Astoria, Oregon. At the last named port what was loaded for Europe.

When Capt. Tobey left the Paeolus it was to join the new ship Santa Clara at Bath. He launched on board of that craft, and her maiden voyage was from New York to San Francisco. He remained in this ship until Nov. 10, 1881.

"I recall one voyage in particular," said Capt. Tobey. "The fog was so thick that when I looked over the rail the water seemed nearer than it ought to be, and sent the carpenter down to see if the ship was leaking. He reported no water of consequence. "On the port bow I saw a big white wave, and could make out that it was under a steamer's bow, coming at full speed. I put the wheel hard down, came up in the wind, sails all back. I fully expected a collision, but the anchor stock hit the after rail of the steamer a glancing blow, and that was all."

"A damned close shave," said L.

Swore One Other Time

This little involuntary outburst of profanity reminded Capt. Tobey of a similar occasion, when he made a little speech in which he reminded his crew that they had a good ship, plenty of good grub, and that everything would be hunky-dory if no profane language was used.

"Crossing the line" is always productive of a joke if there are novices on board. On one voyage Capt. Tobey had a novice, but he was a skeptical one, and refused to believe that anybody could see the line. Handing him a spyglass which had a piece of silk across the lens Capt. Tobey asked him to have a look.

"By gorry!" said Murphy. "I see it now."

Capt. Tobey told his highly interested audience of the one accident in which he figured while seafaring. It happened while he was going into Havre in the ship Santa Clara during a living gale. Everything had been shortened down except the lower mizen topsail, and the ship went through the gates with both anchors ready to let go. When the second anchor went over both snapped and the ship started toward a granite wall. The captain swung her so that the bow went over another ship's quarter causing damages to the latter which cost him $1100.

Proud of Thomaston

Judge Frank B. Miller did not qualify as an "old captain" but was invited to speak as a special guest. He said that his nautical experience had been brief, consisting of two trips, one to Monhegan and one to Martinique. He said he shared with Thomaston people the pride which they all felt in the St. Georges River, and how he enjoyed as a boy seeing the stately ships sail down that river, which, he declared, to be as beautiful as any other in Maine.

Judge Miller said that the first vessel built on that stream was on the shores of the farm owned by Capt. William Robinson of Cushing. This craft was wrecked at the mouth of the river and all on board were lost.

In conclusion Capt. Tobey contrasted the situation as he has seen it—as many as 10 ships on the stocks at one time, and now the wharves decaying and falling down.

The meeting Tuesday night lasted until nearly 10 o'clock, and even then everybody was loath to leave. Judge Frank B. Miller and Frank A. Winslow of Rockland were made honorary members.

The Association is now in its third year, with Capt. Tobey as president and George Gardiner as secretary and treasurer. The membership is about 40.

May its voyage be as long and harmonious as President Tobey's maritime career was.

Red hot basketball will be on at the R. H. S. gym. tomorrow night when both Rockland teams meet the Thomaston teams in championship games.—adv.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

"Whatever your occupation may be, and however crowded your hours with affairs, do not fail to secure at least a few minutes every day for refreshment of your inner life with a bit of poetry."—Charles Elliot Norton.

A WHILE
Beyond the smiling and the weeping
I shall be soon;
Beyond the waking and the sleeping,
Beyond the rising and the reaping,
I shall be soon.
Love, rest, and home!
Sweet hope!
Lord, tarry not, but come.

Beyond the blooming and the fading,
I shall be soon;
Beyond the shining and the shading,
Beyond the hoping and the dreading,

THREE TIMES A WEEK
CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT
Rockland, Maine, Feb. 11, 1926.
Personally appeared Frank S. Lydell, who on oath declares that he is president in the office of The Courier-Gazette, and that of the issue of this paper of Feb. 5, 1926, there was printed a total of 6,506 copies.
Before me, FRANK R. MILLER
Notary Public.

He will swallow up death in victory; and the Lord God will wipe away tears from off all faces; and the rebuke of his people shall he take away from off all the earth; for the Lord hath spoken it.—Isaiah 25:8.

The worst storm of the winter made a sudden descent on this locality yesterday morning and continued with unabated fury into the evening. The thermometer hovered around 10 degrees which fact made the conditions very uncomfortable. The street railway kept its cars running though the schedule was naturally very ragged. The Maine Central trains came in late, the afternoon train nearly five hours behind schedule, the night train two hours. Steamer Camden arrived yesterday morning and made her upriver trip, returning on schedule tonight, weather permitting. The steamer Gov. Bowdoin laid over at this port, making her regular trip east at 1:30 today. This is only the second trip missed for the entire winter, a remarkable record for the little six-day-a-week boat. The real laurels fell to "Bill" Hodgdon and the Bear tractor plow. Rockland has 60 odd miles of roads and through the night, the most important of them were cleared, a feat reflecting great credit on the skill of the operator and the strength of the plow. The snow about the city did not drift badly, but outside were rather different conditions. The Street Railway crews encountered 7-foot drifts at the Thorndike farm. New County road and don't know what is beyond Dana Sherer's at the Highlands for that is the head of navigation at present. All other tracks are clear.

An extremely interesting meeting of the Penobscot Bay Dental Club was held at the Copper Kettle Tuesday night with an excellent attendance. The affair was made a public session with the "School Dental Clinic" as the subject. Papers were read by Dr. E. B. Howard, school dentist, and Miss Louise Sawyer, Red Cross nurse who has been actively associated with the Penobscot Bay Dental Club putting over the very successful school dental clinic in this city. The work had its start three years ago through the co-operation of the dentists and early in Miss Sawyer's residence here she organized the clinic through the Community Chest.

City Engineer L. Dow Jones yesterday announced that he will be a candidate for the county commissioner nomination on the Republican ticket. Mr. Jones was for several years a resident of Union and is now a taxpayer in Thomaston. He has had 26 years' experience as civil engineer and attorney at law and is a member of the Masonic fraternity, Grange, Sons of Veterans and Maine Association of Engineers. "While Rockland pays nearly one-half of the county tax," said Mr. Jones, "it has not had a county commissioner for more than 50 years."

HOW ABOUT COLBY MULE?

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
Last night with the mercury coddled in the bottom of the Colby mule sought warmth at the feet of some of Colby's students. Two men so far have reported the presence of the tiny bed-mates.
One mouse was found frozen to death between a quilt and a blanket; the other escaped with his life in the morning, leaving behind a somewhat astonished Freshman. Pretty tough weather when the mice are reduced to sleeping with us humans!
K. H. Cassens,
Colby College, Feb. 9, 1926.

RICHARD TAYLOR'S PARTY

Twelve happy children and their mothers gathered at the home of Mrs. Frank Taylor, in Winthrop, Mass., Jan. 30, the occasion being the second birthday of Mrs. Taylor's little son, Richard Southard Taylor.
The table was a picture of white linen, pink crepe paper and pink candles. Each little tot had his or her own place at the table with place cards, pink crepe paper caps and little pink baskets of candy. The favors were little automobiles. The birthday cake was frosted in white and graced by two pink candles. Strawberry and vanilla ice cream was served with the cake. Bowls of pink roses adorned both the living and dining rooms and there was a bowl of spring flowers in the reception hall.
Those assisting Mrs. Taylor were Mrs. Louise Canton and Mrs. Rhoda Kimerley, both of Somerset avenue, Mrs. Ethel Ricker of Prescott street and Mrs. Beulah Marr of West Roxbury. Besides many useful and appropriate gifts little Richard received $21.50 in money. Everyone had a good time, the children were on their best behavior, and all the mothers said it was a wonderful party.—Winthrop Sun.

Mrs. Frank Taylor was formerly Miss Elizabeth Southard of Rockland.
Even the worst blizzard of the winter could not keep the movie fans away from Park Theatre last night. The special attraction was "The Merry Widow," which is again being shown tonight. Mae Murray and John Gilbert do some exceedingly fine acting in this picture and the setting make it one of the most striking photoplays ever seen in a Rockland theatre. The Park patrons are to be congratulated upon seeing it at no advance in prices.

In another column of this paper is published a coupon which entitles the purchaser to five votes in Park Theatre's New Year Contest. It is to be filled in and deposited in a similar manner to the coupons which are issued with tickets at the theatre.—adv.

FULLER-COBB-DAVIS
Fur Coats

While taking stock last week we selected a number of odd fur coats to close out. To do this we have marked them at prices which in some cases is not more than one-half the cost.

The short coats especially are exceptional opportunities. They make wonderful coats to wear during the late winter and early spring.

Below we list a few—come in and look them over.

- 1 Coon Dyed Opossum Coat, size 40, length 45 $120.00
- 1 Tom Boy Coon Coat, size 18, length 42 215.00
- 1 Natural Muskrat Coat, size 40, length 45, 125.00
- 1 Natural Muskrat Coat, size 38, length 48, 125.00

- A few Short Coats to close
- 1 Marmot with Australian Opossum collar and cuffs, 37.50
 - 1 Brown Pony Coat with Badger collar, 47.50
 - 1 Spotted Duerskin Coat with fox collar & cuffs, 65.00

SECOND FLOOR

STRAND THEATRE

"Zander, The Great," will be shown again today and tomorrow. You'll laugh—you'll cry—you'll be thrilled at Marion Davies, in Zander because it's a picture that's truly great. It's ideal entertainment—a rip-roaring comedy of today that has everything. Marion Davies never played a more appealing role. As Mamie, the orphan girl, who conquers the world of men, with the help of only a child and a broken-down flivver, she reaches new heights. This picture is true—it's human—it's life! One minute your laughing your head off—the next you are gulping down that lump in the throat that rises when the heart is touched.

Don't forget the grand finale of fiddlers contest on Saturday evening. The feature picture, "Ridin' the Wind" with Fred Thomson, might well be called "Riding the Gale of Mirth;" for its laugh producing qualities are such that a pessimist might safely be defined as one who had seen this picture and failed to giggle over it. As vivid as its title, and with the most adroit and amusing situations, the action of "Ridin' the Wind" is as speedy as its name would attest. Del Andrews has done a corking job of direction, and has got most out of the very comical "boudoir" incidents in which Fred is caught in the widow's room and has to hide for fear of detection. As usual, Silver King, Thomson's wonder horse, is a bright particular co-star with his master. Silver does two remarkable things in the latest production featuring these favorites; he jumps from a moving baggage car with Fred on his back, and he returns repeatedly into a burning barn, where the heroine is lying unconscious, eventually leading his master to the girl. It is authoritatively stated that no horse has ever been taught to do this before.

The added feature picture, "The Virgin," from "The Virgin of San Blas," will be shown.—adv.

VINALHAVEN

The Sewing Club met Wednesday evening with Mrs. Jeannette Currier. Miss Doris Fifield, U. of M. '25, has been engaged to teach the sub-primary grade in the Washington building.
The Pentagon Club met Monday evening with Mrs. E. E. Coombs.
Mrs. W. V. Fossett entertained friends at a birthday dinner Feb. 8. Max Whitman was guest of honor as he also was celebrating an anniversary. Guests arriving later were served a delicious supper on the sun porch.
Tickets are on sale for the Minstrel of Feb. 22 and find ready patronage. Mrs. Frank Rossiter was hostess of the Neighborhood Club Monday evening. A delicious supper was served.
The treasure chest to be given as prize at the Seniors ball Feb. 19 is on exhibition at White's drug store.
Subject of the sermon at Union Church Sunday morning will be "John Bunyan," the fourth in a series of "Great men by the name of John." Music by the regular choir, Miss Martha Beckman soloist. Evening subject "Is All Well?" Music by choir, Miss Pauline Hennigar, soloist.

AN OVERTIME GAME
The Black and White Hockey team defeated the Mysterious Mystics in the first game of their cup series at the Fireproof Arena Tuesday night. When the three periods had expired the score stood 2 all, and it was not until the two teams had battled eight minutes longer that the Mystics were compelled to surrender. Snow was the lad who sent the puck into the cage for the deciding point. It was a clean, fast game, marked by the excellent refereeing of Mr. Turditt, who is a master of the game. The second contest in this silver cup series will be played at the Fireproof Arena tomorrow night at 7:30. Tuesday night's summary:
Black and White—Fales, rw, Ripley, c, Bartlett, lw, R. Snow, rd, McIntosh, rd, Bowden, ld, Beaudoin, c.
Mysterious Mystics—Kenney, rw, Charles, c, Black, c, Foster, rw, Bishop, ld, Montgomery, rd, McFhee, c.
Score, Black and White 3, Mysterious Mystics 2. Goals, Fales 2, Snow, Kenney, Charles.

We took a lesson from Lincoln—a long time ago.

"Think of the man and the dollar—but consider the man before the dollar."

BATTERY G NOTES

Maj. Warner Makes Inspection and Is Pleased—Other Notes.

Forty-one members were out for the drill Tuesday night, which took the form of an informal inspection by Major O. C. Warner, Coast Artillery U. S. Army, Senior Instructor, from Portland. This inspection was held to prepare for the annual army Federal inspection set for April next when a Federal officer will inspect and rate all batteries of the regiment.

Major Warner thinks that the local battery is showing much improvement. Capt. MacAlman has set the attendance goal at 45 each Tuesday night from now till the April inspection. Lieut. McKusick gave the new members of the battery some excellent instruction in manual of arms and drill. Sgt. Wentworth taught two squads how to form a wedge for riot duty. First Sergeant Brewer drilled the Battery in infantry, and taught two squads how to use the bayonet. Major Warner lectured to the range section made up of specially selected members of the battery in the theory of the plotting board.

Capt. Saville of the Camden battery, Lieut. Hammond Commanding the Thomaston battery, and several members of Battery F Thomaston were watching the battery drill and taking notes. Rivalry between these three batteries is keen.

Battery F Thomaston will hold a Military Ball next Monday night in their armory in Thomaston. Admission 50 cents per person.

Three candidates appeared before a board of officers made up of Major Ralph Brown, Major Warner and 2d Lieut. Ripley, Tuesday night for examination for appointment as staff sergeant (Grade 3) in Headquarters Battery, 240th Coast Artillery. The examination was technical, and members of the local batteries only are eligible. Electrical knowledge and practical experience on electrical work are necessary to obtain these higher grades in the National Guard. The successful candidates will be announced later in orders.

CLARK ISLAND

Although a stormy night Feb. 4, 12 persons gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Baum to celebrate his 25th birthday. At about 10:30 Mrs. Baum served hot rolls, frankfurts, coffee, ice cream and cake. Cards and games were enjoyed. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Everett Baum, Miss Margaret Browne, Leslie Milne, "Bud" Dickey, Ernest Edwards, "Eoly" McGuire, Seymour Cameron, Baylus Baum, Olivar Lampi. At a late hour the party adjourned reporting a good time and wishing Mr. Baum many happy birthdays in the future.

Ernest Edwards is confined to the house with a cold. His friends hope to see him out again soon.
Leslie Milne has purchased a new Dodge sedan.
Charles Baum has sold his Dodge touring car to Charles Johnson. Baylus Baum is acting as Mr. Johnson's chauffeur for the present.
Mr. and Mrs. Everett Baum were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crockett in South Thomaston. Mrs. Hennigan Johnson who recently underwent an operation at Knox Hospital is gaining rapidly as many friends will be pleased to learn.

Mrs. Margaret Jackson has returned home from South Thomaston where she has been ill, and her friends will be pleased to hear that she is improving.
Clad to see "Happy" Ralph out once more after his illness.
Michael Hockings is convalescing after a severe cold.
Mr. Holzerson chauffeured a jolly dozen of young people to Tenant's Harbor Wednesday night of last week to attend the Senior High School play. He sure has some Dodge car to accommodate 12 at one time.

The mail was obliged to go by train Friday morning after Thursday's storm. The first time this year.

Seymour Cameron and Baylus Baum started for Rockland Saturday on skis. We wonder what is the attraction.
Carl Nelson has recently purchased a new Master-six Buick.
Mr. and Mrs. William Davis have moved into their new house on Main street.

IN SELF DEFENSE

Shooting At Searsmont Results In Acquittal of High School Teacher.

His contention that he acted only in self-defense sustained, Frederick E. Raynes, a Searsmont High School teacher, was discharged in Belfast municipal court Tuesday after four witnesses had been heard on the charge that he shot and seriously wounded Raymond G. Packard in the Packard home at Searsmont Monday night.

Mrs. Packard, a member of the school committee, and former tax collector and constable, told her story of a quarrel with her husband, which lasted several hours after she found notes in his pocket from other women and reached its climax in the shooting in Raynes' room where she sought refuge. She described his treatment as cruel and alleged that he threatened to kill her and their two children, Pauline 7, and Priscilla 5.

They were married at Searsmont on June 18, 1913. Mrs. Packard, who is 30, five years younger than her husband and five years older than Raynes, was Ruth Plaisted of Melrose, Mass.

Raynes testified that he is a graduate of Melrose High School, did degree work in Harvard University, took a teachers' course in Boston University and did a year's work in a medical school.
He declared he had no criminal intention when Packard broke open the door of his room. He simply held Mrs. Packard's revolver, which she had left with him for safe keeping, and "praying to God for protection" as he quoted her. He said Packard grabbed with both hands the revolver, which to the best of his knowledge was pointed toward the ceiling. He did not think either one pulled the trigger, but two shots were fired in the scrimmage. One took effect, passing through Packard's hand and jaw. This bullet was extracted from his throat at Waldo County Hospital to which he was taken.

The other witnesses were Sheriff Frank A. Littlefield and Deputy Sheriff James Cooper of Searsmont, who investigated the shooting.
Packard, who is the son of Joseph G. Packard, first selectman, is employed at trucking. He was considered in no immediate danger.

UNION

Twenty-nine were present Tuesday afternoon at the Community Club which met with Mrs. John Williams. Further plans in regard to the opening of the public library were discussed and every member showed great interest in this work. After the business session the program was carried out admirably and papers by Mrs. Barker and Mrs. Hawes were very instructive and entertaining. At this meeting 10 new members joined, bringing the membership up to 50. The hostesses, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Wallace, served abundant and delicious refreshments. The next meeting will be Feb. 23 with Mrs. Bessie Stevenson. Roll call to be answered by quotations about George Washington and papers read on the subjects "Old Forts of Maine" by Mrs. Charles Lucas and "Maine's Part in the Nation's Wars," by Mrs. Ethel Creighton. The hostesses will be Mrs. Abbott and Mrs. Barker.

Mellie Dunham and "Gram" with a special troupe of dancers will appear at Community Fair on the Rotary and Friday Club night which is Wednesday. News of the attraction was received just as this paper went to press.

The missionary meeting and supper scheduled for the Baptist church last night had to be postponed because of the severe storm. No definite date for the gathering can be set at this time due to many engagements of the speakers, but an early announcement may be expected.

The finals of the fiddlers contest, which were planned to take place at the Strand last evening have been postponed until Saturday. Owing to weather conditions, the fiddlers were unable to get into town. The participants for the grand final contest are Guy Larkin, Frank Carter, Oscar E. Robinson and Reddington Creamer.

Lewiston Journal: "Rockland claims distinction in a club with an unique name. It is the Bean Barrel Club, probably successor to the one-time Cracker Barrel groups of old-time days. It has 33 members and sessions are held evenings at a local confectionery store." The Journal reporter would have been even more impressed if he had been fortunate enough to attend that Thendike Hotel banquet.

William E. Allen of Beachmont, Mass., a traveling salesman who comes regularly to this city, showed a Courier-Gazette reporter (The other day a copy of the American Traveler dated March 3, 1926. The paper was yellowed with age, but every line was perfectly legible. The number of the paper was 70 and it was the first volume. Mr. Allen showed this interesting relic in the office of the Boston Traveler which immediately changed the date of its being founded from 1827 to 1826.

Brigadier Mabey, general secretary of the Salvation Army in the New England Province, will conduct the services at the Salvation Army Saturday and Sunday.

Oliver R. Frohock, who had been failing in health for some time, was found dead in his bathroom at his home on Park street, Thursday. The funeral services will be held at the residence Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Obituary deferred.

The Legion smoker tonight promises to be well up to the winter series average. The Navy is making a special drive to win the attendance laurels. A speaker, music by a well known artist and "chow" are scheduled.

Henry Tripp, a well known employee of the Street Railway, died suddenly at his home in Blake block last night, living only half an hour after being brought there on a special car from the power house, where he was officiating as despatcher. He had been in poor health about a year. Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 o'clock.

A bell alarm from Box 49 called the fire department to the Edward Bryant Co. sheds at 1.30 yesterday morning. The blaze itself was slight but a high wind and the proximity of many wooden buildings made a real menace. The kiln shed affected has received the attention of Chief Havener's men several times the past two years.

Rockland's very excellent pennant winning chances in the Knox and Lincoln League will be strengthened tomorrow night if the local boys can defeat Thomaston, the game to be played in the Rockland High School gymnasium. The R. H. S. girls have thus far met no defeat, but Thomaston comes over with a well-developed bump of confidence. C'mon up.

FRIDAY'S BASKETBALL

Rockland and Thomaston Boys and Girls Will Play Here—The Championship Race.

Thomaston boys and girls basketball teams are ready for the big game with the Rockland teams which will be played at the Rockland High School gym tomorrow night. The Thomaston boys team has come first during the past week and are confident that they will up-set the dope and give Rockland the holding of their lives. Condon is one of the fastest basketball players in this section and it is in this lad that Coach Sturtevant with four other fighters means to pin defeat on Rockland. On the other hand Rockland has such boys to depend upon as Capt. Merchant who has played a great game this year on both defence and offence and has proven to be a fine leader. Little Traflet who is only a Sophomore is a hard lad to guard and if his eye for the basket is the same as in the Camden game Thomaston will have to look out. Jim Flanagan also is in the same class as Traflet and plays the opposite forward. He's likely to get on one of his shooting fits which means there is no stopping him. Coach Jones has worked these two lads along together for the past two years when he had them playing on the grammar school team. The next year as Freshmen they played on the High school team and if they keep on improving at the same rate they have shown to date by the time their Senior year is reached there won't be anything in the State that can stop them.

Mrs. John Flanagan playing his first year as a regular and holding down the center position, is giving his opponents a lot of trouble and as he has another year to play should prove to be even better than his big brother Bill who was a fine athlete for the R. H. S. Arthur Orne, also playing his first year as a regular, is putting up a great game as a guard and it is a pleasure to see this cool headed player break up play after play. It is not alone in these five boys that Coach Jones has to depend entirely as "Buck" Frohock, Wiggin and Fowler are ready and it was due to these boys starting the Camden game that Rockland had the edge on the game. It gave a rest for the three boys on the side lines and gave them a chance to size up the style of play that Camden was using. Other members of the first squad that are just waiting for a chance are Jim Flanagan, Parsons, Jameson, Freeman, Ladd, Marsh and Frye.

On the second squad there are some good prospects for another year. This group has practice twice a week and with them seven boys from the grammar school that look like High school material have been added so that now from twenty to thirty boys are working out. Two teams from this group, the Wascotts and McCarty's will meet at 7.15 tomorrow night. The real battle however is expected to be in the girls' game. The T. H. S. girls have made wonderful strides under the tuition of an old Rockland star (Kitty Egehen) now a Thomaston matron and the secret she has issued a deft that has the Rockland girls raving for battle. In Keizer Thomaston has a real star around whom they build great hopes.

Mrs. Mary Soboleski Winslow would like to have her friends vote for her in the New York trip contest, or leave votes at Johnson's drug store.

The dance at the Country Club for this evening is indefinitely postponed because of the travelling.

The Universalist Circle supper which was to have been held last night was postponed on account of the storm to tonight.

The Marion Davies picture, "Zander, the Great," is going to be held over at the Strand and will be shown again on Friday. This picture is being held over for the accommodation of those that could not get out to see it during the storm.

There will be an auction party tomorrow night at the B. & P. W. Club rooms.

Everett Colson of the U. S. government service in Haiti visited Mr. and Mrs. Colby W. Post this week.

Social events at the Country Club next week are all cancelled, to give right of way to Community Fair. That is a good spirit to show.

The ladies of the Congregational Circle, undaunted by the severe storm of Wednesday, held their meeting to date and served one of their usual good suppers, with an attendance of about 90.

Mrs. Ione Lackee Duffney, the Strand Theatre organist, has just returned from a visit in Portland, where she procured a good quantity of new music, a mixture of the latest popular hits and semi-classics which are particularly pleasing on a theatre organ. A special program will be used during the big feature picture being shown today, "Zander the Great," with selections from several of the light operas, such as "Sunny," Marilyn Miller's latest vehicle, "The Late Folies," Margery, "No, No, Nanette" and the ever popular "Rose-Marie." Mrs. Duffney has also secured a cycle of Helen Hopekirk's just off the press, which is especially good for the theatre organ, some of Frimlins numbers, and other semi-classics which are sure to please her hearers.

Mrs. Alice E. Robbins is confined to her home on Maple street with a sprained ankle.

Mrs. James Doherty has entered the Park Theatre New York contest, and anyone having votes for her please leave at Lady Knox Beauty Parlor with Mrs. Holt.

Mrs. Caroline Sherer Swett was in Portland this week to attend the funeral of a relative.

Randall McInnis, son of Angus McInnis is at Knox Hospital for treatment.

Yes, the Woman's Educational Club is certainly growing. At the last meeting the following ladies were admitted to membership: Mrs. Flora B. Simmons, Mrs. Leland Barter, Mrs. Hattie Dickey, Mrs. Mattie Madson, Mrs. Hattie Santer, Mrs. Elizabeth Mero, Miss Ardelle Maxey, Mrs. Hattie Roberts, Miss Berla Lord, Miss Esther Fernald, Miss Ellen Ahlberg, Miss Henrietta Libby, Miss Florence Philbrook, Miss Phyllis MacWhinnie, Miss Ethel Smalley, Miss Bertha Smalley, Miss Anna Gordon, Mrs. Gertrude Lovette, Mrs. Elizabeth Crockett, Mrs. Therese Chase, Mrs. Louise Brown, Mrs. Maude Mather, Miss Mabel Stone, Miss Anna Webster, Miss Helen Ver-rill, Mrs. Lillian Judkins, Mrs. Alice Angel, Mrs. Beatrice Chaples and Mrs. Maude Grant. Many names were presented for action at the next meeting.

Misses Frances Bachelder and Sarah Linnell and George Ryan of the Fuller-Cobb-Davis staff left yesterday for New York on a buying trip.

Golden Rod Chapter, O. E. S., will install officers tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Each member may invite a guest.

The American Legion Auxiliary has taken a booth at Community Fair and will sell aprons and fancy work. Members will meet Thursday and Friday afternoons at the home of Mrs. C. F. Snow, Talbot avenue, for work. Because of the press of work for the fair, there will be no Saturday night supper.

St. Peter's choir will meet with Mrs. Evelyn Peaslee Saturday night at her apartments in the Water Co. block.

Mrs. Minnie Cobb is at Knox Hospital for treatment.

Mrs. R. H. Angel is at Searsport, caring for her sister, who is sick.

General and Mrs. Herbert M. Lord on last Friday evening gave a dinner at their beautiful apartment in Washington, D. C., to these guests: Vice President and Mrs. Dawes, Admiral and Mrs. Campbell, Judge and Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Anthony Wane Cook, Mr. Kloeber and Major and Mrs. Kenneth P. Lord. After the dinner Mrs. Helen Lord, by request, played several piano solos which were especially appreciated by the Vice President, who is himself a musician of rare ability. Tuesday of this week Mrs. Kenneth Lord gave a bridge luncheon of six tables in honor of several friends and relatives who are in Washington at this time. Among the guests were Mrs. Ruth Bird of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson B. Keene, Mr. and Mrs. Horace M. Noyes of North Haven; Miss Alice Gould of Bridgeport; Mrs. Cora Spaulding of Lewiston; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turner of Boston.

TALK OF THE TOWN

The Hoyt Musical Revue which was booked to play at the Strand Theatre the week of February 15, has been postponed by Manager Dondis until the following week of February 22, so that it would not conflict with the attractions at the Community Fair.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the vestry of the Methodist church Friday evening, Feb. 12 at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. H. L. Holt of Camden will speak on "Americanization." It will be an open meeting, to which the public is cordially invited.

The regular meeting of Ruth Mayhew Tent will be held next Monday evening with the usual supper at 6 o'clock. In the afternoon there will be another of those pleasant auction parties to which any lover of the game is always welcome. Business of great importance is to come up.

Manager Schaefele of Park Theatre was called to the phone several times yesterday by persons to know if "The Merry Widow" is a picture to which children should be taken. Rumor had been busy with a report that some sections of it were a bit spicy. Manager Schaefele reassured all inquirers and furthermore desires The Courier-Gazette to say that it is never the intention of the management to show a picture there to which children cannot be taken.

"ON MY SET"

An Owl's Head radio fan, who confesses to being interested in "On My Set" asks what the set is and how many tubes. It is a Radiola 2A, with four tubes, but the writer is unable to furnish any technical information for the reason that he has been a bug only a few weeks and knows nothing about the "innards" of the box—The Central Fire Station boys have assembled a Crosey 8-tube set, and being aware of his house of the day and might may reasonably be expected to get everything there is going—Mrs. Arthur P. Haines takes "On My Set" to task for referring to WREO as a Detroit station. I had it listed properly as Lansing, Mich., and Detroit was a slip of the pen. Mrs. Haines is fortunate enough to live in a locality where "bloopers" are few, and she is enjoying excellent results when there is anything doing at all—Bath is having lots of trouble with "bloopers" and offers this timely advice: "Keep the set out of the hands of children and all others who do not wish to listen in, but merely to 'fish' for what they can get."—Gee! but didn't that hockey game come in great Tuesday night? And wasn't WJZ right on the job?—Charles Ellis of Clark Island got Bournemouth, Eng. on his Browning-Drake during international test week, and has received confirmation of the same. Let's see, isn't Clark Island that same radio paradise that Ralph Doherty wrote to me about.—No matter where you roam, Miami Beach to Ottawa, you get about the same favorites night after night. I call to mind "Smile a Little Bit," "Dinah," "Always" and "O, Boy, Some Girl!" as among those which I hear most frequently.—WEEI announces its intention of disseminating news each afternoon at 3 o'clock and 6 o'clock, with the Boston Transcript as the source of information.—Raymond Perry tuned in on Los Angeles at 1 o'clock Wednesday.—"Is Anybody Got a Little Yeller Dog?" Did you hear the plaintive voiced young lady singing that on WJZ last night. If not you missed something.—WEEI offered its old favorites last night, the Irena Troubadors and Roxy and His Gang.—Among music lovers (classical music) there was just one objective and that was station WGY, through which the opera "Faust" was being presented. I heard the latter part of it, and it was coming in delightfully.—My set may have static, May be more and erratic, But I'm not ready yet To put it in the attic.

The Governor and Council at its session, Feb. 25 will hear petition for a pardon from James H. Simonton of Rockport. Simonton was sentenced in the supreme judicial court for Knox county to pay a fine of $500 and costs and to serve four months in jail and in default of payment to serve six months additional in jail for being a common seller of liquor. In his petition, Simonton states that he is not guilty, that his health is such that further confinement in jail would be dangerous and that new evidence has been discovered since the hearing on the petition before the Governor and Council last December.

Deliberate malice aforethought is charged in the selection of A. T. Thurston as chairman of decorations for Community Fair. This charge is brought against the directors, and justly, by those who say that the Arcade will not be recognizable during Community Fair Week, Feb. 15-20. Patrons and directors alike have tired of the unsatisfactory and not very effective paper decorations of the past, hence the choice of Mr. Thurston with his well established reputation along these lines. His present plan call for a scheme of decoration that will transform the Arcade into a veritable palace of beauty, hiding all its ugliness and giving the Fair a setting such as it never had before. Incidentally the handsome new trappings will completely eliminate the fire hazard.

In another column of this paper is published a coupon which entitles the purchaser to five votes in Park Theatre's New York Contest. It is to be filled in and deposited in a similar manner to the coupons which are issued with tickets at the theatre.—adv.

THE COFFEE PARTY

St. Bernard's Parish All Set For Tonight's Big Annual Event.

One of the big events in the calendar of the Catholic church is the annual coffee party of St. Bernard's Parish, which takes place tonight in Knights of Columbus hall, opposite the foot of Limerock street.

The supper is in charge of Mrs. J. Y. Sullivan and Mrs. George Phillips, and you know it requires a whole raft-load of food to supply the demands of the many who always patronize the event. The good cooks of this parish have been busy for some days, and a guarantee goes with each ticket that nobody will come away hungry.

In connection with the supper and entertainment which follows it is the usual sale, and the following committees are in charge: Fancy table, Mrs. Maurice Wilson and Mrs. Nicholas Murray; candy table, Miss Maureen Burns, Miss Helen Burns and Mrs. D. Perry; ice cream table, Mrs. Dennis Cronin, Miss Thelma Dorgan and Miss Joanna Patterson; novelty table, Mary Winchenbach, Winnifred Doherty and Helen Moulaison; K. of C. table, David McCarty, chairman, and Eugene Harrington treasurer.

There are other committees, the one for instance which got out the big advertising program. On it are William J. Sullivan, David L. McCarty and Thomas Costello and then there's the committee on general activities comprising Raymond Moulaison, Patrick Burns, Timothy McInnis, Dennis Cronin, Charles Coughlin, Thomas Anastasio, Fred Carlini, Ed Patterson, William Walsh, William Sweeney.

The following program will be presented under the direction of Mrs. W. P. Walsh, chairman, and Miss Cecelia Brault:

Vocal Duet—Agnes Flanagan, Eileen Flanagan
Shadow Dance—
Song—"The World is Waiting for the Sunrise"—Lockhart
Soprano Solo—"Lullaby"—from Jocelyn—Cecelia Brault
Dancing Song—Eileen Flanagan, Agnes Flanagan
Song—"The Meeting of the Waters"—Moore
Quartet—Mrs. Leda Wilson, Thomas Fleming, Mary Johnson, Annie Beaulieu
Song—"It's April in Killarney"—Nevin
Cecelia Brault and Chorus
Song—"Top O' the Morning"—Mama-Vueca
Annie Beaulieu and Chorus
Cecelia Brault, Accompanist

The general chairman of the coffee party is Rev. Leo R. Carey, president ex-officio, whose success in former years is a guarantee of what this coffee party will be.

PROMOTED TO CAPTAIN

Capt. Richard F. Saville
The following appointment in the Maine National Guard was announced Tuesday by Adjutant General Hanson. 1st Lieut. Richard F. Saville as captain, Coast Artillery, to date from Feb. 2, 1926; assigned to Battery E, 24th Coast Artillery, with station at Camden; vice, Maurice V. Greenlaw, transferred to National Guard Reserve.

WALDOBORO

(Mrs. Jonathan Matthews of Hyannis, Mass., Mrs. Josephine and Miss Marion Storer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodbury of Needham, Mass., and Mrs. Edgar Heron of Chattanooga, Tenn., have been in town called by the death of Mrs. Lena Storer Heron, Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Coombs were in town Wednesday.

Loring Crowell has been at home from Camp Devens a few days.

The Star Club met with Mrs. C. B. Stahl Wednesday afternoon. Next week's meeting will be with Mrs. J. E. Miller.

Miss Anne Gay returned from Boston Monday.

Friends of E. C. Teague are sorry to hear of his continued illness at his home in North Waldboro.

Mrs. H. H. Kuhn entertained the Women's Club Tuesday afternoon. Miss Marion Clark read an interesting paper on Roosevelt's travels and Mrs. F. A. Brummitt gave a selected reading. The subject of Mrs. Ida Viles' paper at the next meeting will be "Ye Old Time Holidays" and Mrs. E. Doherty will read.

Mrs. Helen M. Daggett died Sunday morning after a short illness. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Baptist church.

Reddington Creamer went to Rockland Monday evening to take part in the Fiddlers' Contest at the Strand Theatre.

Mrs. J. W. Sanborn is in Boston for a stay of several weeks. The officers of Walburna Chapter, O. E. S., were installed Tuesday eve-

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once.

Rub Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief. Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster; does the work without blister. Rub it on with your finger-tips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

Servants at the Baptist church Sunday next will be: Sermon at 11 a. m., topic "A Good Grip." If you like a good big sing you had better attend this church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock; but if you do not care for a direct gospel message you should not be there.

The W. C. T. U. meeting will be held at Miss Crandon's Friday at 2.30. A Lincoln program has been arranged for the meeting.

A letter from Mrs. William F. Clark of Bangor informs The Courier-Gazette correspondent that her husband is still at the Calais Hospital, but is slowly improving. Mrs. Clark is hoping to have him at home this week. The Maine Central doctor from Portland visited the hospital Sunday and gave the patients another examination, but did not give out any information.

Mrs. R. D. Swift who had a serious ill turn is now gaining and getting her strength back rapidly.

Benjamin Young, who died at his home on Pine street Tuesday morning, had been sick for some time. He was 70 years old and had been a resident of Thomaston for 50 years. He was twice married. A widow, two daughters, four sons and two sisters and a brother remain. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon.

Thomaston High journeys to Rockland tomorrow night to join battle in basketball. T. H. S. is confident of victory, especially the girls.

Thomaston is looking forward hopefully to the coming spring and summer. The business outlook is encouraging. With the cement plant operating; business in the boat line good; its clothing factory busy; its canning business promising a development that will call for a large expenditure of money; the completion of one bridge, and the commencement of another which will require 18 months to construct, the building of a large addition to one of its garages and the possible erection of another one centrally located—sort of gives a silver lining to the cloud of high taxes.

WARREN

News has been received by relatives of the sudden death of George Benner of Lowell, Mass., son of Elliott T. Benner, formerly of North Warren.

Due to the weather conditions the proposed debate at Warren High School has been postponed to Friday afternoon, Feb. 12. The time is 2 o'clock and all interested friends of the school are cordially invited to attend.

SEARSMONT

Mr. and Mrs. Don Thomas received a telegram last Friday morning, the sad news of the death of their oldest son, Carroll Thomas of Roxbury, Mass. He was instantly killed while unloading a truck body from the train. Carroll will be remembered by his friends and schoolmates of this town where he was born and brought up. Besides his parents, he leaves a wife and five children, the youngest being four months old, three sisters and two brothers. Much sympathy is extended to the family.

The officers of Rosewood Chapter, O. E. S., were impressively installed Jan. 25, by Past Master Nettie Marriener, assisted by Past Master Lillian Miller as marshal and Miss Ruth Miller as organist. The ceremony was interspersed with a vocal solo by Mary Gibson, a piano solo by Marguerite Hills, reading by Nettie Marriener, vocal duet by Francoella Moody and Mary Gibson, and reading by Ruth Packard. The following were installed: Worthy patron, Elizabeth Hills; worthy patron, Bertram Drummond; associate patron, Francoella Moody; secretary, Alice Andrews; treasurer, Lillian Miller; conductress, Nettie Marriener; associate conductress, Mattie Hoad; marshal, Julia Levenseller; chaplain, Mildred Hemmaway; organist, Flora Robbins; Ada, Minerva Packard; Ruth, Bertha Cushman; Esther, Sarah Drummond; Martha, Alice Hunt; Electa, Fannie Cobb; warder, Emma Hills; sentinel, Joseph Packard. A delicious supper of cold chicken, cold meat, baked beans, salads and pastry was served. The committee in charge were Mildred Hemmaway, Mrs. Willard Morse, and Fred Marriener. Many visitors were present.

SOUTH SOMERVILLE

The dairymen are having a hard time trying to get their ice houses filled.

The town officers are in session for the settlement of town accounts preparatory to having the reports printed.

Glenwood Hopkins cut his knee quite badly last week while working in the woods for Charles Bowman.

A. A. Bartlett was called last week to Somerville by the death of Mrs. Aurilla Stevens, of whom he was guardian.

A. L. Polson of Augusta is in town working for A. A. Bartlett in the woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hollowell of Jefferson were calling in this place Sunday.

Mrs. D. E. Bartlett had a severe cold and cough. She is attended by Dr. J. E. Odiorne of Cooper's Mills.

The family of George Hiler are all sick except Mrs. Hiler, who has but recently come home from the hospital and is not well enough to care for the sick ones.

OWL'S HEAD

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Philbrook arrived home last Monday from a week's visit in Waterville.

The tractor snow plow visited our roads and did a very pleasing job. Mr. Ballard was in town Monday and spent the night with G. W. St. Clair.

Mrs. Eugene Emery went to Rockland Sunday for a few weeks' stay.

ROCKPORT

Mrs. Mary K. Payson is at home from Rockland spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Fred Knight.

Mrs. Cecilia Cain was the guest of Mrs. Arthur Berry Tuesday.

Mrs. Josephine Orbeton of Boston has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur K. Walker this week.

The Twentieth Century Club will be entertained Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Josephine Wooster.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Storms were host and hostess at a very enjoyable gathering at their home on Commercial street Tuesday evening. The party included Mr. and Mrs. William A. Paul, Mrs. S. Josephine Wall, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur K. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Zedek Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Church and son Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar S. Bohndel and son Henry. A fine musical program was enjoyed and refreshments were served. The party was entertained Wednesday evening of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur K. Walker.

ORFF'S CORNER

Mrs. W. A. Jackson was in Portland Monday. On her return she was accompanied by her daughter Dorothy, who has been a patient at the Children's Hospital for three months.

Leon Achorn of Roxbury, Mass., was a recent overnight guest of his brother, Harold Achorn and family.

Calvin Bragg arrived home Friday after a five weeks stay at Marine Hospital in Portland, where he went for an operation.

The Patriotic Entertainment which was to have been given Feb. 22 has been postponed on account of illness of participants.

The new lumps for the church have arrived and are in place. A dedicated service will be held Sunday evening.

Members of the W. C. T. U. and acquaintances of Mrs. Athene Dazett were sorry to hear of her death which occurred recently at her home in Waldoboro.

The platform, or work-study-play plan of organization, has been adopted by one or more public schools in 101 cities in 33 States. In addition, two private institutions, Carson and Girard Colleges in Pennsylvania, are operated on the platform plan.

APPLETON RIDGE

Plenty of snow here at present. "Johnnie" didn't get over the Ridge Friday or Saturday but he did the best he could to get the mails to his patrons. The men were kept busy Saturday shoveling out and making roads through the drifts and fields.

Saturday afternoon eight girls of the Clover Class of the Sunday School and their teacher, Mrs. Elizabeth Newbert, met with Miss Bertha Hodson for their monthly class meeting. The afternoon was happily spent by playing games and with music and readings. Refreshments of cake and ice-cream were served. It was regretted that the other two members were not able to be present, the cause being bad colds.

Several from here attended Grange Saturday evening and report a pleasant meeting.

HEARD AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

High School "Katnips"—Written by "Kippy," the R H S Mascot

I'm very glad to see visitors to our school. It shows they are interested in us. Two of my friends, Mrs. Bevington and Miss Rhodes, have been here this week, also Mrs. Messer and Mrs. Emery with whom I'm not so well acquainted.

Edward Whalen (my tall friend) has returned to school after a long illness. I'm glad he's back for I like to have my friends all together.

I saw a new teacher the other day. Upon asking my friend Sammie Smalley, I learned she was Mrs. Rideout formerly Miss Jones. She taught here four or five years ago but as that was before my time I can't tell you about her. She is substituting for Mrs. Whittemore.

I wandered into an English class the other day and my friend Janet Nevins' seat was empty. At first I thought she must be sick but I heard Maggie Heller and Helen Glidden say she had gone to Washington. D. C. to live for good. My but, I'm sorry because I did love to listen to her compositions. I hope she'll remember me to the President.

I was walking along the edge of the balcony the other day and I almost fell off. My how my heart did thump! A new brass rail which had been put up was the only thing that saved me from a bad tumble. I investigated and found them to be in the auditorium as well as in the gym. There are also some beautiful shiny ones at the entrance. They are just as good as mirrors in which for me to see to wash my face and smooth my whiskers.

Three men stopped in front of the High School Tuesday morning and began to dig. I was real excited. I thought they must be hunting for a buried treasure at first, but they were only hunting for the water pipe.

During one of my meanders through the auditorium the other day I found one of the seats broken. I surely looked as if Mary Sylvester had sat down in it and sat down rather hard too.

Two of my chums were reading a paper the other day and thinking I would be smart, I snatched it and ran away to read it by myself. It was beyond my education but here it is and I hope you can get more out of it than I could. "The Telephone plays so important a part in the business world that a complete mastery of its technique should be acquired by every secretary and stenographer. Through the kindness of Miss Fifield, superintendent of the Telephone Exchange, each senior, shorthand student was given full details in regard to operating and using the telephone."

The list of juniors and seniors qualified for awards in typewriting are:
L. C. Smith—Annie Delmonico, 41; Palmer Pease, 39; Clara Boardman, 37; Ruth Crouse, 30.
Royal—Elizabeth Plummer, 45; Louise Macintosh, 39; Albertina Creighton, 38; Maybelle Fales, 35; Remington—Grace Curtis, 31; George Graves, 30; Janet Nevin, 29; Frederick Sylvester, 35; Willis Hard, 35; Virginia Bishop, 35; Maybelle Fales, 33; Evangeline Winchenbach, 32; Madeline Bulder, 31; Myer Benovitch, 41.

Underwood—Annie Delmonico, 30; Albert Quinn, 57; Alma Gott, 44; Myer Benovitch, 41; Louise Macintosh, 40; Annie Sherer, 40; Victor McKenney, 38; Dorothy Maloney, 37; Thelma Titus, 36; Clara Boardman, 35; Bertha Smalley, 32; Louise Anderson, 31.

Last week I noticed that smiles were as scarce as ladies when mice are around, so I began to nose into the matter. I pussyfooted around to more than one room where I sensed an atmosphere of mid-rare exams. Cap'n told me they were two hour exams for two days. I hope I'm not bidding anyone good-bye because of the results. The teachers looked satisfied anyway.

I know why Mr. Atherton was looking so jolly Monday morning. It was because he had enjoyed his weekend at Portland.

Friday I heard the greatest racket in the auditorium and rushing up who do you think I found leading the old "Kippy Ki Yi!" It was none other than my old friend Syd Bird home from Bowdoin. They were having a rally for the game that night at Camden. I had a dandy time. Mayor Carver gave a fine speech and said if we got stuck on the way up he'd push the "Bear" up after us. Miss Coughlin was asked to rouse some spirit and when she was through many more said they were going than had raised their hands before.

OLD "BROOK" DAYS

Jesse M. Blackington Recalls Them In Letter To The Courier-Gazette.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Of course by reading The Courier-Gazette I have kept pace with Main street and you say it has changed. It sure has since I slid down hill on it from the corner of Limerock street to G. A. Safford's store when it turned into Glover's lumber yard. Hewitt's Bake Shop was opposite Safford's. I was raised in The Brook at the time Eldrege & Shepard, Rising, Hall, Webber, Keene, Justin Richardson and Leighton were doing business there. Will Robinson and Henry and I used to ride in his grandfather's "hay," and the old white horse that turned the grindstone was some horse to us boys. Then there was the Indian pothole under the old shop where we cooked our clams and mussels, and smoked Sheppard's 2-cent cheroots. We sold junk to Richardson or picked up coal and sold it to Blackington, the shoe-maker on Limerock street. Fred McKeller kept store across the street from the shoe repair shop, which was up stairs over "Becky" Greeley's dressmaking shop.

Say, if this keeps coming back to me it would take a week to put it down, so I had better start that little spiel about the jetty in Coos Bay. They started to build it in 1923 and will take another year to finish it. They are putting in 1000 tons a day. This jetty is certainly the making of the fine harbor and if they can make it stay put will be a grand thing. It is one mile long, running north and south, and the channel is 4,500 feet wide, with a depth of 30 feet when finished, so that steamers now loading 3,000,000 feet and then going somewhere else to finish, can load to full capacity right here. I want to say that anyone who lives on Coos River does not have to go to Florida or Southern California for the Japanese current flows near enough to heat them all. No cold, no heat. Quite a few Maine people settled here, in fact, Maine people were the making of it. Mr. Simpson who owned most of the land and saw mills also planted Boston flat clams here, so they tell me. At Bandon Mr. Simpson's son has a beautiful home of many acres called "Shore Acres," a very handsome place when I saw it in 1916. They say it is much prettier now.

Now you see what you got me into by putting my letter in the paper. Here comes this letter which I am enclosing.

[The letter to which Mr. Blackington refers was from Calvin W. Lewis of Brookline, Mass., asking Mr. Blackington to help locate his brother's family. Mr. Lewis it appears had read in the Oxford Democrat a news item concerning Mr. Blackington which had been copied from The Courier-Gazette recently.]

I found Mr. Lewis' family. They were neighbors, you might say, on the bay, but the widow and sons live in Coville, Calif.

And this is not all. I got a letter from Zeb Simmons saying I had better write him instead of sending that spiel to you. He was at San Diego, Calif. Just came up from National City where he had been to see Fred Clark.

My address is R. F. D. 1, Box 146, Redwood City, Calif.

Jesse M. Blackington.

MRS. CAROLINE C. ROWE

From the Winthrop (Mass.) Sun is taken the following sketch of Mrs. Caroline C. Rowe, who died in that city Jan. 20 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward S. Snow, following a very severe illness:

Mrs. Rowe was born in Rockland, Me., in the year of 1841, she was the daughter of a sea captain, and married a sea captain, Captain Joshua N. Rowe, Feb. 4, 1864, who was in the Civil War and sailing master of the U. S. S. St. Louis. During their honeymoon they attended the second inauguration of President Lincoln and six weeks later the funeral. After the war she accompanied her husband on many voyages. She was shipwrecked once and escaped to land in the West Indies, experiencing an earthquake while there. After that she voyaged to England and the ship she was on was in a bad collision.

Mrs. Rowe lived in England for seven years and later went on a long trip to South America. She spent some time on Robinson Crusoe Island and was nearly lost in a terrific gale off Cape Horn. Finally she settled in Winthrop and for the past 35 years has been at rest near the ocean that was a part of her life, and among loving relatives and friends.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Edward S. Snow, a sister, Mrs. Albert S. Snow of Brookline, a brother, Henry Keating of Rockland, Me., and four grandsons, who acted as pall bearers, Winthrop, Nicholas, Edward and Donald Snow. Funeral services were from the Union Congregational church Monday afternoon. The pastor, Rev. M. E. Vandemark officiated and Miss Edith Bonney sang by request Mrs. Rowe's favorite hymns, "Rock of Ages," "Nearer My God to Thee," and "The City Four Square," accompanied by Mrs. Marion Partridge Lane. The Mothers' Club attended the service in a body and although the storm was one of the worst of the season the many friends and neighbors filled the church to pay their last respects to one who had passed many an hour telling them tales of the sea and of the real things of life, for Mrs. Rowe was a wonderful example of Christianity, always charitable and helpful in teaching God's word, a believer in church and its influence over her life; and so as she spent many of her younger years in the storms of the sea, so at the last she passed away, and while the service was read and hymns sung, the storm she so loved raged and it almost seemed a fitting end, for she had no fear.

Among those who attended the funeral were Rear Admiral A. S. Snow and his wife, sister of the deceased. The floral offerings were beautiful. Besides those sent from relatives and friends were pieces from the Mothers' Club, Women's Christian Temperance Union, Women's Association of the Union Congregational church, the Sunday

The remains of Mrs. Rowe were brought to Rockland, where they were met by Henry J. Keating and Capt. Israel Snow and accompanied to Seaview Cemetery, where they will rest in the receiving tomb until spring, when a burial service will be held with their interment.

Mrs. Rowe was the third daughter of Capt. Richard and Lillias (Snow) Keating. She joined the Rockland Congregational church early in life and was a member also of the local W. C. T. U. Following her studies in the public schools she was a student at Wheaton College. It was to this city, her girlhood home, that she returned for the summer, a custom followed for many years, up to the time of the death, five years ago, of her beloved sister, Luella A. Snow. Her affection for Rockland and its people was constant, and here she was held in deep regard, not only by the large circle of relatives but by a wide group of friends who esteemed her for her brilliancy of mind and the warmth of her steadfast loyalty to old scenes and old-time friends.

Let Tanlac restore your health

If your body is all fagged-out and run down, if you are losing weight steadily, lack appetite, have no strength or energy—why not let Tanlac help you back to health and strength?

So many millions have been benefited by the Tanlac treatment, so many thousands have written to testify to that effect that it's sheer folly not to make the test.

Tanlac, you know, is a great natural tonic and builder, a compound, after the famous Tanlac formula, of roots, barks and herbs. It purges the blood stream, revitalizes the digestive organs and enables the sickly body to regain its vanished weight.

You don't need to wait long to get results. Tanlac goes right to the seat of trouble. In a day or so you note a vast difference in your condition. You have more appetite, sleep better at night and the color begins to creep back into your washed-out cheeks.

Don't put off taking Tanlac another precious day. Step into the nearest drug store and get a bottle of this world-famed tonic. That's the first important step back to health and vigor. Every day's delay means unnecessary suffering. For Tanlac starts to clean out and tone up the system right away. And

Blacksmith Calls Tanlac "Wonderful Medicine"

"I am indebted to Tanlac for my present fine health. The dizziness and agonizing headaches that used to last for days, never bother me now. I eat, sleep and feel better than for many years."

DEMAND FOR KARNAK ALMOST INCREDIBLE

With Carload Orders For Sensational Medicine Pouring In From All Over Country, the Huge Laboratories Are Taxed To Limit.

SALES IN TEN DAYS ALONE ARE $74,000

Maine and New Hampshire Report Most Remarkable Benefits After Taking This Amazing Medicine.

The huge laboratories of Karnak, the sensational medicine that has amazed the nation, are swamped working night and day to supply the enormous demand for the remarkable health builder.

From every section where the great medicine has been introduced orders are pouring in. It seems that in every town Karnak has produced such phenomenal results that the dealers can hardly keep enough of the medicine in stock to supply their customers.

Recently, in ten days alone, Karnak orders amounted to the staggering total of $74,000. Think of it—almost a carload a day of one medicine shipped to various points. It challenges the imagination—and were it not for the gold figures of record, it would be hard to believe. Right here in Rockland, after the greatest selling record a proprietary medicine has ever known, Karnak sales are daily mounting higher and higher. And people from all over Maine and New Hampshire report an amazing recovery to health after another.

"Why, this Karnak is the most wonderful medicine I ever heard of," that's what everybody is saying—and that's what Gustave Lindstrom, well known hardware clerk, of Goffstown, N. H., says in relating his experience with the medicine.

"Yes, sir, Karnak is by far the best medicine I ever heard of," declares Mr. Lindstrom. "I just had the worst kind of stomach trouble, had eruptions on my skin, suffered with rheumatism, and was in a badly rundown condition. I took all kinds of medicines and treatments but could find no relief until I got this Karnak."

"But I tell you, this medicine has given me a good appetite, has given me much relief from my rheumatism, and has built me up in weight, and has just made me feel like a different person all over. Why, I just feel so grateful to the medicine that I can't say half enough for it."

"Karnak is sold in Rockland exclusively by the Corner Drug Store; in Camden by Chandler's Pharmacy; in Thomaston by McDonald's Rexall Store; in Union by Gordon-Lovejoy; and by the leading druggist in every town."

ROCKVILLE

Rockville was not "smothered" with snow and wind as Boston was in Thursday's blizzard, but it was storm and wind enough for us and to spare. Our first blizzard this winter—just when we were congratulating ourselves on the mildness of the winter days, and beginning to think of spring. The ground-hog warned us on Candlemas day, and he seems to be a wise weather prophet. He came out and saw his shadow, blue and cold on the snow, and said: "It's Candlemas day fair and bright, winter takes another flight," and then he buttoned his fur coat close about his neck and ran into his warm nest to sleep again until spring.

Monday a large crew of men were continuing shovelling out the roads. There were drifts six feet deep and the cross roads drifted full. There is considerable teaming on our main road now, a few trucks and automobiles.

The main road was broken out from the West Rockport to the Rockland line Friday. Mr. Heald our mail-man did not get through. He tried to Friday and got as far as Simonton, encountering such bad roads he was obliged to return. Mr. Camden. Thus we had no mail that day—a most unusual occurrence.

The Rockland Coal and Ice Company finished harvesting their large supply of ice on Chickawaukie Lake in time to escape the big snowstorm. This season they made a short job of it, the shortest on record for the same amount of ice, due to a good crew of efficient workmen, and motor trucks to haul the ice, good weather and good roads.

News From The Hilltop

The club's been invited to join a big spread at Sunnyside, home of friends Bernard and Fred. It's to be on the 20th—Saturday night—And every member's agog with delight. For we've many birthdays to celebrate here. There are lots of our members—now isn't it queer? The calendar shows us some men of renown.—But they quite forgot to look over our town. We all can't be father to this our home land. Nor can we be Lincoln, with courage so grand. But we may aspire to their wisdom and ways. And by earnest effort win honor and praise. Though your name be called Tilden, or Pittman, or Pease, Hall, Bennett, or Perry, whatever you please. You may not be able to win you a throne. But you may, if you will, build a name all your own. Be that as it may—let's go on that night. Bring along all the fixins' and that large appetite.

STONINGTON

With true island courage and fortitude 54 members and guests braved the worst storm of the season to participate in the installation ceremonies of Juanita Chapter, O. E. S., which took place at Masonic Hall Feb. 4. The worthy installing officer, Past D. G. M. Harriet Haskell of Harbor View Chapter, Deer Isle, was ably assisted by Rose M. Turner, past matron of Juanita Chapter, as grand marshal, and Mabel L. Clarke as grand chaplain, and these officers will serve during the year: W. M., Iva F. Morey; W. P., Alex. McGuffee; A. M., Wilda Gross; Sec., Hester Warren; Treas., P. M. Lucy M. Collins; Cond., Susie Hardy; A. C., Valie Smith; Adah, Lizzie Murphy; Ruth, Jeanette Turner; Esther, Lenora Gross; Martha, Mary Wood; Electa, Georgia Coombs; warder, Carolyn Tracy; sentinel, Guy Welch; chaplain, Margaret McGuffee; marshal, Susie Gross; organist, Catherine Haskell. The ceremonies were interspersed with vocal solos by Wilda Gross and Catherine Haskell, a piano duet by Catherine Haskell and Past Matron Emma L. Small and reading by Myrtle Morey. A pleasing and interesting feature was the presentation by the visiting matron Emma L. Small of a beautifully embroidered Eastern Star apron to each member of her staff.

Past Matron Small was presented with a past matron's jewel, and since Worthy Patron Small already has a past patron's jewel his gift was a fine masonic ring. The presentation was made by Past Matron Rose M. Turner, who was also the pleased and surprised recipient of a beautiful casserole, given in appreciation of the faithful service she has rendered the chapter, as its secretary the past two years. During that time Sister Turner has never missed a meeting and all the chapter's business has been executed with promptness and dispatch. Past Matron Small presented a handsome cut glass sandwich tray to the installing officer, who gracefully expressed her thanks and bespoke for the chapter another year of great prosperity.

Short speech were followed by a march to the banquet hall where ice cream, cake and coffee were served and a social hour enjoyed before the homeward struggle began.

Allen Cleveland of Boston who has been the guest of his mother Mrs. Charles Cleveland for a week, returned to his home Tuesday. He was accompanied by his brother, Charles W. Cleveland, who has been passing the month here and who has a position as engineer on one of the Eastern Steamship Co.'s boats running from Boston to New York.

Mrs. Alberta Stinson arrived Saturday after a ten days visit with Mrs. Sterling Gross in Rockland.

EMPIRE THEATRE

A new love and a new marriage. Can you visualize anything new about either? Of course you can't, consequently you will want to see the angle from which this subject is handled in one of today's double features, "The Count of Luxembourg," starring George Walsh and Helen Lee Worthing and it is equally certain that nobody will want to miss "The Goose Woman," this great mystery story written by Rex Beach.

Perils finish the keynote for the Friday and Saturday program—"Perils of the Sea," as seen in the great S. O. S. feature picture, and "Perils of the Wild," as seen in Chapter 5 of the weekend serial.

Through the wild mountains of black smashing waves the huge ship plunged its way. There was a man on that ship who had waited all his life for his one ambition to be realized. There was a shivering white faced girl, waiting for her lover to return to the great, silent, empty deck. And out of the flaming smoke, looking like some hideous gila-like man, crept a brute with greed and lust twisted on his scarred face! Suddenly out of the howling storm, there loomed another monster of the sea. The thunder of the heavens mingled with the thunder of the splintering crash. Everything depended on the one man, way below decks who desperately tapped the key and sent the cry for help through the wind-torn sky: "S.O.S.—Save Our Souls!" It was a hopeless struggle. Yet amid all the chaos, what one girl was told by a dying man as they hung like grim death to a thin raft, changed the lives of many—and affords the greatest film thrill of years in this smashing drama of the sea and its children.

Next Monday and Tuesday "The Girl From Montana," and that new serial, "The Green Archer"—adv.

PARK THEATRE

It seemed yesterday as if the whole town was talking about it, just as they have talked about it in every city where the great picture has appeared. Have you seen "The Merry Widow"? Everybody asked. And if your answer was no you were invariably told that you should not fail to do so. "The Merry Widow" has its final showing today, and goes down into the Park's history as one of the big pictures of the season.

The weekend double-header gives to the Park patrons two attractions which are guaranteed to please the crowds, and speaking of the crowds, of course you have not failed to notice the manner in which the theatre is besieged every Saturday evening.

One of the Friday and Saturday features is "The Enchanted Hill," full of pep, humor and heroism. Jack Holt is seen as a gay and penniless hero, all his fortune sunk in his ranch which holds a treasure of which he is unaware. All about a man and girl who love each other—and yet they are enemies. The story of their love, rich in comedy and common-sense and tenderness and romance, is one of the most human that has ever been put on the screen.

The companion feature is "The Pinch Hitter," starring Glenn Hunter, a boob who made good. He was the freshest Freshman that ever came to the college. He was sure he could knock 'em all dead and he did—with laughter at his boob tricks. He tried for the college baseball team and made it—as a bat boy and water carrier. He was sure he could make "Eabe" Ruth look like a piker and he did—just once, but that was enough—enough to put one of the most thrilling and amusing climaxes to this comedy drama that you ever saw.

All next week Jimmy Evans Revue, bigger and better than ever, plus good feature pictures.—adv.

Boy Scouts

EMPIRE THEATRE

Troop 6 of the Congregational church, spent Saturday night at Dynamite Beach at the Henry B. Bird camp. Nine of the Scouts left this city Saturday morning making the trip on snowshoes and skis in about two hours. Scoutmaster E. G. Thayer and four more scouts arrived at noon well burdened with packs, blankets and provisions. With the spacious fireplace and kitchen stove working the place was soon made very snug and attention was turned towards satisfying the pangs of hunger and the arrangements for sleeping. Patrol Leader Wesley Waggatt took charge of the kitchen and exhibited some fine cookery.

The hill in back of the camp furnished some excellent skiing and after supper when the snow began to fall the fellowship around the fire-place was of the kind that is remembered. Although not a very cold night the sleeping plan worked out well. With more scouts than bed space, some rolled up Indian fashion before the fire and there were no complaints in the morning. The return was made during the forenoon on Sunday, three starting ahead at 10 o'clock and the rest at noon, all having had a great time and looking forward to the next.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, gripping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without gripping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.
